

Rutgers University, Department of Economics:

PhD Program Placement Information

More than half our graduates start in academic positions and an even larger share conduct economics research up graduating. The table below summarizes our placement over the last few years:

		Share of placements
Academia	Assistant prof (US)	22%
	Assistant prof (International)	15%
	Post-doctoral fellowship	15%
Non-profit	Research	20%
	Non-research	2%
Government	Central banks	9%
	Other	2%
For-profit	Finance	11%
	Consulting	4%

(This table is based on first placements for 46 students who received PhDs, 2010 through 2016.)

Examples of placements:

Assistant professors (U.S.) : Utica College, Westchester University in the Penn State System;

Assistant professors (International): Wuhan University, Beijing Normal University, Universidad de Los Andes;

Post-doctoral fellowships: University of Southern California, Harvard University, Oxford University;

Nonprofit research: Institute for Labor Studies, Germany (IZA), Korea Energy Economics Institute;

Private firms: Ernst and Young, JP Morgan-Chase.

---

For more information about the Rutgers Economics PhD program, please see:

<http://economics.rutgers.edu/graduate/prospective-students/information>