

Colin M. Campbell
CURRICULUM VITAE

Department of Economics
75 Hamilton Street
Rutgers University
New Brunswick, NJ 08901
(732) 932-7363
campbell@econ.rutgers.edu

Graduate Education

Ph.D., Economics, Northwestern University, December 1995: “Communication, Collusion and Coordination in Noncooperative Environments.”

Undergraduate Education

B.A. summa cum laude, Economics, Columbia University, 1990

University Teaching Positions

Associate Professor of Economics, Rutgers University, 2005-present
Assistant Professor of Economics, Rutgers University, 1999-2005
Visiting Fellow, Yale University, 2001, 2004
Assistant Professor of Economics, The Ohio State University, 1995-1999
Graduate Lecturer, Northwestern University, 1993-1995

University Courses Taught

Microeconomic Principles
Microeconomic Principles (Honors)
Intermediate Microeconomics
Intermediate Microeconomics with Calculus
Public Finance
Game Theory (Undergraduate)
Graduate Industrial Organization
Graduate Core Game Theory

Published Papers

“Coordination in Auctions with Entry” (1998), Journal of Economic Theory 82, 425-450.
“The Winner’s Curse and Public Information in Common Value Auctions: Reply” (1999), with John H. Kagel and Dan Levin, American Economic Review 89, 325-334.
“Large Electorates and Decisive Minorities” (1999), Journal of Political Economy 107, 1199-1217.
“Can the Seller Benefit from an Insider in Common-Value Auctions?” (2000), with Dan Levin, Journal of Economic Theory 91, 106-120.
“Blackwell’s Ordering and Public Information” (2004), Journal of Economic Theory 114, 179-197.
“Implementation and Blackwell’s Ordering” (2004), Review of Economic Design 9, 43-57.

“Search and Collusion in Electronic Markets” (2005), with Gautam Ray and Waleed Muhanna, Management Science 51, 497-507.

“Auction Form Preference and Inefficiency of Asymmetric Discriminatory Auctions” (2005), with Octavian Carare and Richard P. McLean, Economics Letters 86, 95-100.

“When and Why Not to Auction” (2006), with Dan Levin, Economic Theory 27, 583-596.

Work in Progress

“Bureaucratic Collusion via Information Sharing”

“Equilibria of Competition in Mechanisms”

“Let them Burn Money: Making Elections more Informative”

Grants

“Electoral Participation and Jurisdictional Structure: a Theoretical Investigation” (1999), joint with Dan Levin; funded by the National Science Foundation as Grant No. SES-9820229. $94,950, September, 2001-August, 2003.

Professional Activities

Participation as author,

Southeastern Economic Theory and International Trade Conference (1995)

Midwestern Economic Theory and International Trade Conference (Spring 1996)

Jerusalem Summer School in Economic Theory (1996)

North American Meetings of the Econometric Society (Summer 1996)

Midwestern Economic Theory and International Trade Conference (Fall 1996)

North American Meetings of the Econometric Society (Winter 1997)

Midwestern Economic Theory and International Trade Conference (Fall 1998)

North American Meetings of the Econometric Society (Summer 1999)

North American Meetings of the Econometric Society (Winter 2002)

Meetings of the Society for Economic Design (Summer 2002)

North American Meetings of the Econometric Society (Winter 2003)

Participation as attendee:

New York University IO Day (Fall 2003)

New York University IO Day (Fall 2007)

Invited Seminars,

University of Wisconsin-Madison, April, 1998

Texas A&M University, March, 2000

Washington University, November, 2001

Yale University, November, 2002

University of Missouri, October, 2005

Institute for Advanced Study, April, 2008

Center for Economic Research, ITAM, October, 2008

Referee, American Journal of Political Science, Berkeley Electronic Journal of Theoretical Economics, Econometrica, Economic Inquiry, Economic Theory, Games and Economic Behavior, International Economic Review, Journal of Economic Theory, Journal of Economics and Behavioral Organization, Journal of Economics and Management Strategy, Journal of Public Economics, RAND Journal of Economics, Review of Economic Studies.